LUNG CANCER SUPPORT GROUP

Living with lung cancer and related treatments can be very demanding for patients and their families. This group will provide the opportunity to meet others in similar situations to share your stories, provide practical suggestions, and support each other. In addition, an Oncology Social Worker will provide information and skills for relaxation, navigating the healthcare system, finding needed resources, and coping with day to day challenges, such as breathlessness. Issues related to keeping a positive outlook, stigma of lung cancer, and fear and anxiety will also be discussed.

This group is open to the community. However, due to space limitations, priority is given to patients who receive their treatment at UCLA. Patients and their caregivers are welcome to attend.
